

CATHERINE R. COVERSTON

Bachelor of Science in nursing, '87

Coverston contributes articles to many journals covering the fields of nursing and health care. She has been published in Journal for Specialists in Pediatric Nursing, Perinatal & Neonatal Nursing, American Journal of Maternal/Child Nursing, Care Management Journals, Health Care for Women International, National League of Nursing, Nurse Educator, and Journal of Family Nursing, among others.

She has authored or co-authored chapters in various books. For Growing Through Teaching: How Nurse Educators

Are Changing the World, she co-authored the chapter on nurse educators who work in Argentina. At Brigham Young, she led several trips to Argentina to help train nurses there and received a Graduate Mentorship Award from its College of Nursing in 2006.

She also served on Excelsior's Alumni Advisory Board.

Associate Professor
Brigham Young University (Ret.)
Alpine, Utah

.....
“...I see walking through that door [to take Excelsior exams] as the doorway to my future, and just an amazing, amazing moment in my life.”

› PhD in Nursing, 2001
University of Utah

› MSN, 1989
Medical College of Georgia